

King Off for Washington, Hopeful of Channel Funds

By John J. Kerrigan

Rep. Karl C. King (R) of Pennsylvania's Eighth District (Bucks and Lehigh Counties) left the sprawling acres of his King Farms Company, a mile out of Morrisville, last night, and headed for Washington and his third session of Congress, which starts tomorrow.

He went with no plans for submitting any bills, but with a strong conviction that the success of his party in the 1954 Congressional campaigns "will depend upon how effectively Congress and the Eisenhower Administration combine to make the people feel that the Republican program is working for the general good of the country as a whole."

The principle objectives of the program, King believes, should be "further drastic reduction of federal expenditures so as to balance the budget, and rather complete revision of the tax structure to eliminate many present inequitable taxes."

Significance for All

Asked if he felt Congressional activities would have any particular impact on the Lower Bucks County section of his district, King said he did not doubt that "the whole program has significance for all the people of the district, in a national way."

"One thing of special significance to this corner of the county," he said, "is a decision on the deepening of the Delaware River channel."

"If Congress appropriates money for the channel, that work will probably proceed promptly, because all of the engineering surveys are completed."

"I'm hoping," he added, "they will appropriate the money."

Is Weather Silly? Grab a Statistic. It's Plain Gone!

The weather in Lower Bucks County during December wasn't cold or even cool, but, according to monthly statistics—it was crazy!

Not only was the first day of winter a warm, sunny day, but so were the majority of the other days in the month. The U. S. Weather Bureau reports that last month was the warmest December in 22 years — and the mild weather is expected to continue.

The average December temperature—which certainly wasn't average at all—was 41.7 degrees. That's more than four degrees above normal. And during the first three days of the new year, the mercury has been three, eight and nine degrees above normal.

Though the weather promises to continue being "crazy," there is still one happy aspect of it: no one will have to "dig" that nonexistent snow.

3 Cars Damaged In 2 Collisions In Langhorne Area

John C. Gessner of Newtown RD 1 suffered a bruise of the head and cut of the right hand last night at 9:40 o'clock in an automobile collision at the super highway and Route 413. He was treated by a Langhorne physician.

Gessner's car collided with one driven by James J. Sullivan of Bristol pike and Street road, Edlington, when the latter failed to yield right of way, according to Middletown Township Patrolman Joseph A. Zalot. Both cars sustained extensive damage.

Sullivan was fined $10 and costs on the failure to yield right of way charge by Justice of the Peace Eugene Sergeant.

A car driven by Howard Gagen of Trenton was extensively damaged when it collided with a truck driven by Walter Lindenmuth of Mt. Carmel, Pa., yesterday at 3:40 p. m. at Winchester avenue and Pine street, Langhorne, State Trooper Wilbert McCloud reported.

Gagen pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to yield right of way and was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Sergeant.

A PLACE TO START

Fallsington Friends Offer Aid To Levittown Nursery Group

Fallsington Friends Meeting has given final approval to the Levittown Nursery and Kindergarten Cooperative to use its kindergarten room as a nursery school, it was learned last night at an executive meeting of the cooperative.

Mrs. Arthur Danner, member of the group, has announced that a donation of $25 in merchandise has been presented to the cooperative by the Ott Engraving Company, Morrisville Shopping Center. The gift, presented by Stanley Feintuck, manager, was in the form of games and other toys.

Mrs. Danner said qualified teachers will be interviewed this week, and that the group plans to hire one teacher and at least one assistant. A tentative schedule includes one morning and one afternoon session.

A general meeting of the cooperative, to be attended by more than 70 parents whose children are engineers were right in suggesting that a part of the cost of deepening the channel to 40 feet should be paid for by U. S. Steel or other private interests?

No, he did not. "I think," he said, "the Army engineers went beyond their proper prerogatives in suggesting that private industry should pay $18,000,000 of the costs for the very simple reason that there is no way of giving (U. S. Steel) title to anything for the $18,000,000 and therefore it would all be expensible against current taxes in the year paid."

No Precedent

"There is no precedent for such a private industry investment in a general waterway and if (the government) can't give title to anything, the investment becomes an immediate expense, against the private industry's tax payment."

"The government would lose in taxes at least 52 per cent and may be as much as 82 per cent of the private industry investment."

Did Rep. King feel the debate on private industry's paying a share of the costs might block appropriation by Congress of the money for channel deepening?

"Stumbling Block"

"It may be a stumbling block," King said, "because it highlights the opposition argument that the deepening of the channel would presently be of advantage to only one main industry."

"However, since Congress is al-

Bensalem Board Votes For Lyons

Supervisors Pick New Chairman

George C. Lyons of Cornwells Heights was named chairman of the Bensalem Township Board of Supervisors yesterday during a reorganization meeting at the Township Building.

Lyons' election followed the swearing in of Raymond Wink as the new supervisor. Wink was sworn in by Township Secretary J. Alfred Rigby.

Wink replaces William White, who had been a member of the Board of Supervisors for 18 years. White was chairman of the board for 16 years.

Rigby was reappointed to his secretary post, a job he has held for 16 years.

At a meeting Saturday, the supervisors approved an ordinance increasing the width of new streets to 20 feet, with a minimum right of way of 40 feet. Heretofore, the minimum road width was 16 feet.

Supervisors also approved a subdivision plan for the Tywal Park tract on Hulmeville road and Gravel Pike. The plan is a continuation of a development already built.

Watson Renamed By Falls Board

Falls Township supervisors re-elected Clifford Watson chairman and roadmaster for the coming term at a meeting last night at Fallsington Elementary School.

Raymond Pope was again named secretary-treasurer. Other officers re-appointed were John Custer, police commissioner; Willard S. Curtin, solicitor; Franklin Kirby, police chief, and Benjamin Queen, trailer park inspector.

Maurice Shull was reappointed for five years to the Falls Township Authority after a vacancy was caused by his expired term.

In the only other business, a motion was passed to advertise for bids on material and machinery or roads. The bids will be opened the February meeting.

Shift In L'Town Master Plan Is Under Question

Petition Requests Delay In Change On 15-Acre Plot

The Bucks County Planning Commission was asked last night to defer approval of a Levitt and Sons, Inc., request for a change in the master plan of Levittown which would permit the firm to construct homes in an area which had been set aside for recreation purposes.

According to Theodore Heck of 1 Meadow lane, Levittown, the area in question is a 15-acre tract between the Elderberry and Magnolia Hill sections of the community.

Heck submitted a petition signed by 45 residents of the two sections and of the Willow Wood section to Franklin C. Wood, executive secretary of the Planning Commission, asking the body to defer decision.

The Planning Commission is scheduled to meet at 2 p. m. today in its office at Doylestown.

Heck said the petitioners neither disapprove or approve of Levitt's proposal "until we get more information about it." Heck said he felt the matter warranted further investigation.

"Many people who bought homes in these sections did so because they understood recreational facilities would be constructed nearby," Heck said.

Request Last Month

Heck said he learned from Wood that Levitt wishes to construct 68 homes each with a 70-foot frontage on the 15-acre tract. Heck said he made inquiries when he saw trees being felled and grading operations in the area. Request for the change in the master plan was made last month, Heck said.

A. Patrick Brennan of Levittown, chairman of the Levittown Democratic Party, said the executive committee of his group, felt that "many residents in these two sections are not aware of this change in the master plan of Levittown and that:

"The Democratic party believes that the Planning Commission, the affected townships (Bristol and Falls) and the Levitt firm should give consideration to residents who selected the homes on the basis of the original master plan. Such a change should not be made without public notice."

Heck said he is not connected with the Democratic committee.

Reach Settlement In $350,000 Suit Against Wheatley

A settlement has been reached in the $350,000 damage suit filed by State Trooper George Calderali against Thomas M. Wheatley, Sr., 51, of Oxford Valley.

The case resulted from a tow truck incident on May 30, in which Calderali was shot. The amount involved in the settlement was not disclosed by the attorneys on either side.

Three witnesses were heard in the trial, which opened shortly after noon yesterday. Conferences between the attorneys consumed most of the session.

Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite announced a "mistrial pending settlement" and discharged the Common Pleas Court jury.

The shooting grew out of an argument between the trooper and Wheatley's son, Thomas M., Jr., over who was to tow a truck from the scene of an accident on the Lincoln highway in Middletown township.

The father, who was convicted in September on charges of aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill, testified at his trial that he thought his son had been killed in the dispute.

The elder Wheatley is free on $30,000 bail. The son was sentenced to two months in prison on charges of drunken driving and assault and battery.

Bonds Are Burned By Solebury Twp.

The supervisors of Solebury Township sparked their reorganization meeting last night with the burning of $30,000 worth of road improvement bonds issued in 1931 and recently repurchased by the township.

Cyrus Fell was elected president of the board and George Fitting was named secretary and treasurer. The third member, William Tinsman, Jr., who was elected to succeed William Savage, was named general chairman.

Savage, who was formerly president of the board, was given the honor of touching off the bonds.

TO DISCUSS SCHOOLS

Robert Shafer, superintendent of Bensalem Township schools, will discuss township school problems tomorrow at the meeting of the township's Republican Club. The GOP club meets at 8:15 p. m. in Otromski Hall, Andalusia.

Democrats Take Over Borough, Twp. Offices

Raise Salaries Of Commission In Bristol Twp.

The six incoming Bristol Township Commissioners last night in Edgely firehouse voted themselves annual salaries of $1,200, double that of previous commissioners.

The commissioners also elected Louis Rubin of Langhorne Manor, township solicitor, by a 5-4 vote. A deadlock between Rubin and John S. Neal of Levittown was broken by a vote cast by telephone by Rudolph Kraus, convalescing from a heart attack.

Several members of an audience of 100 questioned the legality of both actions and turned what started out as a quiet meeting into a hectic affair.

Booz Named Secretary

Justice of the Peace Rene Tritschler of Croydon had sworn in Thomas W. Wright, auditor, and Democratic Commissioners Adolph Andrews, Harry D. Morrell, Albert H. Rogers and Wayne Locke, plus Independent Elbert J. Kohli, Republican Kraus was sworn in earlier at his home.

Then Andrews was elected president of the commissioners to replace Republican George Sottung. Democrat Frank Hibbs was named vice-president and Democrat Oscar Booz, defeated for reelection to the commission, was named secretary. He replaced Elwood Britton, who held the post for three years.

After his election Andrews said: "It's an honor, but it can be an

CHAIN BROKEN

With the appointment last night of Louis Rubin, a Langhorne Manor resident, as Bristol township solicitor, a 30-year chain in which one law firm represented the township was broken.

Some 30 years ago the late Howard I. James began representing the township. Upon James' death, in October, 1946, Lawrence A. Monroe, an associate, formed a partnership with Paul J. Barrett. The Barrett and Monroe firm continued as Bristol township solicitor until the end of last year.

empty honor without the cooperation of the Commissioners and the taxpayers."

Events Disjointed

The events that followed were somewhat disjointed. References to the salary issue and the appointment of a solicitor kept recurring. One Bath road resident interjected his distress at the "poor conditions of the roads."

Through the tangle, these two threads ran:

Andrews announced that before the open meeting commissioners were deadlocked four to four on a solicitor and that Kraus' vote would be taken by telephone to break the tie.

Take Written Vote

A member of the audience objected that voting should have been done in public. In compliance with the objection, commissioners took a written vote, again a deadlock.

Another member of the audience asked "Who are you voting for? No one has mentioned any candidates."

Andrews apologized and said the candidates were Rubin and Neal, Alfred Flood of Newportville

Streets Again Issue In Middletown Clash

A smoldering fire was fanned to life, at least temporarily, last night when former Middletown Supervisor Sven Nielsen and the man who replaced him, Joseph O. Canby, sparred verbally over street specifications for the Middletown section of Levittown.

Requesting the floor at the meeting, Nielsen, "speaking as a spectator," cited the supervisors' visit to Levittown, L. I. to observe streets and said he hoped the supervisors wouldn't be guided by the conditions there, "which are vastly different from here."

He said the soil there, for one thing, was sandy and gravel strewn, whereas in Bucks County, most roadbeds are necessarily laid on clay.

"Don't be guided by conditions in Long Island," he said. "Where five inches of concrete might be sufficient there, that wouldn't suffice here."

Saw Road Defects

Canby said he saw some defects in the Long Island roads, but he also observed that the streets up there, some as old as 10 years, were in much better shape than

Area Governments Pick New Officers

Election of officers was first on the agenda last night for Lower Bucks County boards of supervisors and borough councils, meeting to reorganize for 1954.

Rumpf was reelected president. Mrs. Lillian Metcalf was reappointed as secretary and L. C. Nielsen will serve again as treasurer.

Ferdinand Reetz was awarded the contract for trash and garbage collection in the borough, with an increase in service from one garbage collection a week to two. Garbage will now be collected each Monday and Friday. Trash will be collected on Wednesday.

Rumpf made the following appointments: street committee, Wil-

A new Burgess was inducted into office, as well as a tax collector and a borough auditor.

The political complexion of council is now 12 Democrats and six Republicans.

building, Feehly Cutchinal and June; fire, Boyer and June; streets, Cutchinal, Boyer and Feehly.

Boyer was named chairman of a newly-formed recreation committee. Other members of the committee will be appointed later, Eberle said.

Committees Named

Named by Eberle to the police committee were Michael Pirolli, an incumbent member, and Boyer and Bortner.

Rentschler, before the new council re-elected President Eberle, urged action on five issues "of paramount importance": the borough budget, fire protection, police, tax assessments and industry.

"We all would like to have a borough said. 'It is up to the council to undertake necessary changes and generally administer and govern the borough.'

"Because of the increased size of Tullytown, it is necessary that we expand our municipal facilities, with modern and up-to-date equipment."

Rentschler urged "a well balanced budget" and told the councilmen they should consider raising taxes by a possible three mills. The increase, from the present seven-mill rate, "would mean only $10 to $20 a year for the average homeowner," he said.

Asks Fire Aid

"We must help the Tullytown Fire Company," the Burgess said in his second point. "Council should investigate and consider a possible fire tax to give them a guaranteed sum of money each year." The company is now supported by contributions.

In the police department, the Burgess urged an increase in officers' salaries, with addition of an officer to the four-man force. "If it is at all economically feasible."

"We are in real need of a police headquarters, and of a borough hall," he added. "I suggest the immediate consideration of expanding the fire house, at borough expense, so that it would be large enough for full time municipal facilities, and not interfere with the fire company."

As alternatives, Rentschler suggested the rental of an existing building in the borough or construction of a new building.

The tax assessment on the Levittown Shopping Center is "entirely too low, and is forcing an economic hardship on the borough," Rentschler said. "We should make every attempt through the courts and other channels to secure equitable assessment rates."

The Burgess added today that he feels assessments of the Warner Company property should also be studied, with the possible reclassification from "agricultural" to the more expensive "mining" designation.

As his fifth point, Rentschler said Council should "make every attempt to attract industry on whatever land might be available."

"This year can be successful in Tullytown only if each councilman does his job earnestly and honestly," Rentschler said. "I will give my fullest cooperation. I intend to do my job as stated by law, and I feel certain that the members of Council will do their jobs."

Streets Again

Nielsen said these present a danger to children at play and on their way to school. He said when cars are parked on both sides of these streets, it is impossible for buses and big trucks to pass. He recommended that supervisors look into the situation thoroughly before revising present street codes.

Morris said he hoped sewer and water rights would be handled by the township authority rather than the Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority, "so that Middle-town taxpayers will eventually own the sewage and water systems."

No definite decision was reached on either question.

In other business, wages of two township highway department employees were raised from $1.30 per hour to $1.50 per hour, considered a more stable wage "for keeping our employees."

Zoning Changes Sought

Supervisors will advertise two petitions for zoning changes on Jan. 7 and hold a public hearing on them Jan. 22. The first concerns a petition by the Penn Beverage Co. to have a tract of land bounded by Newportville, Woodburn and Emille roads changed to commercial. The second is a petition by Edward P. Lawrence to have a five-acre tract of land on West Maple avenue rezoned to industrial.

A letter will also be written to General Outdoor Advertising Co., Inc., requesting that they remove two signs in the township. One creates a traffic hazard by blocking the view of motorists, the supervisors said.

FIRE COMPANY MEETS

The Union Fire Co., of Cornwall Heights, will hold a regular meeting in the fire house, State road and Spruce street, tonight, following a meeting of the relief association at 9 p. m.

Raise Salaries Of Commission In Bristol Twp.

wanted to know what procedure the commissioners used for nominating the two candidates. The question went unanswered.

Tritschler telephoned Kraus for his vote. The nod went to Rubin.

Calls Vote Illegal

Henry J. Lotto of Levittown said, "I never heard of a vote being cast by telephone. It's illegal."

Said Andrews: "You heard such a vote tonight. No one here knows whether its legal or not."

He announced that Rubin was the new solicitor.

Neal, who had been trying to say something to the group for several minutes amid the hub-bub, finally managed to get the floor.

Neal Wouldn't Accept

He said: "I don't want the question of legality on this matter raised. I have the utmost confidence in these commissioners and I don't want to see their group torn by this. I withdraw as a candidate. If I were elected I would not accept. I'm sure that Mr. Rubin will do a wonderful job."

The audience gave Neal extended applause.

On the salary questions Andrews announced that the pay of the new commissioners would be $1,200 annually. The salaries of three commissioners, Hibbs, Sottung and Eugene Stutz, whose terms have two years to go, will remain at $600.

Secretary's Pay $2,500

Andrews announced that the salary of the secretary would be $2,500 annually, an increase of $800. Mrs. Betty Gough of Newport road remarked, "The taxpayers are getting a shellacking right off the bat."

Similar comments came from several quarters of the audience, while Andrews tried to explain that the code regulating township governments, permitted such an increase when population had increased to a certain point.

Asks for Law

Flood asked that the law on the matter be read. According to the law, township commissioners may receive salaries of $1,200 if the population is in excess of 20,000. The population of Bristol Township has been estimated above that figure. A $600 salary may be drawn in townships where the population is between 4,000 and 10,000.

After the meeting, Britton told reporters that he thought a legal question could be raised on the salary matter. He said no official census has been taken since the 1950 figures. The population then was almost 12,000.

Andrews said commissioners had agreed before the meeting to raise the salaries of commissioners. There was objection from the audience to this. When a poll of commissioners was demanded and taken, only Stutz voted against the increase.

Resolutions Adopted

However, to conclude the matter commissioners voted the adoption of resolutions increasing the salaries of the incoming commissioners and of the new secretary.

During the quiet portions of the meeting committee appointments were announced. These included two new ones, public works and public relations.

Locke was named chairman of the former. Other members of this group are Kohli, Sottung, Morrell and Rogers. Andrews will head the public relations committee, which will include the heads of each of the other committees.

Named to the safety committee, formerly police, were Morrell, Rogers and Kohli; highways, formerly streets, Hibbs, Locke and Stutz; health, Rogers, Morrell and Kohli; finance, Locke, Hibbs and Sottung.

Cornell Specialists Suggest Report Cards For Parents

ITHACA, N. Y. — (INS) — Every parent takes a strong interest in his child's report cards — but few mothers and dads ever think of how they'd rate on a report card for parents.

Home specialists at Cornell University point out that parents' attitude toward school-going is just as important as the child's. And they suggest that each parent ask himself these questions:

Do you take an interest in school affairs: parent-teacher meetings, special parents' days, school meetings, so that you'll be better informed about what goes on in education these days?

When your youngster has trouble with a subject, do you talk with his teacher to find out if there's anything you can do? The teacher can be very valuable in helping you understand your own child, for she sees him in a different atmosphere than the home.

If your child is complaining about unfairness in the school room, do you take his word for it or do you inquire around to check on the real root of the matter?

If your youngster isn't doing well, perhaps you've never thought that it may be partly your fault. Be sure you provide a quiet time and place for him to study. Since plenty of sleep is a necessity for students, promote a sensible bedtime hour at your house. If a child stays out of school often, he's certain to miss important things so keep your child home only when it's necessary.

Before you rate a straight "A" on the parents' report card, you'll need to know your school, the people in it, and cooperate every way you can.

New Harvester Cuts Tobacco Job

TARBORO, N.C. (INS) — Drastic changes may take place in tobacco harvesting with use of the "Silent Flame Harvester" which is a sure-fire labor saver in the fields.

The new harvester is supposed to be capable of taking about 1,000 sticks of tobacco per day — a 50 per cent increase over previous methods.

If it lives up to its publicity, it will be a boon to the labor-harassed tobacco farmer, and also to labor. Using it, seven workers can do the work of 15. And they work under a canopy on the harvester instead of in the blazing sun.

Men, the traditional workers of these fields, may give way increasingly to women under the new proposed setup. The harvester can move up to 12 miles per hour.

Disabled Workers' Program a Success In Great Britain

LONDON, (INS) — Big social, psychological and economic benefits are being reaped today from a unique British experiment to restore both usefulness and pride to the nation's seriously disabled.

No less than 6,000 seriously disabled Britons considered unfit for normal employment are today, through the auspices of a government-sponsored company, Remploy, Ltd., "paying their way" and contributing to Britain's productivity and export drives and substantially adding to the national wealth.

Remploy was formed in 1945 as a result of the Disabled Persons Act of 1944.

The company's first factory began operating in 1946 and today 90 factories, staffed by seriously disabled workers are turning out a wide variety of products covering dozens of industries including woodworkings, light mechanical and electrical engineering, footwear, knitted garments, protective clothing, brushware and packaging.

BIRD RANGE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (INS) — San Antonio policemen abandoned their target range recently for the birds. In squads of six, patrolmen armed with 5-shot 12 gauge shotguns, wandered over the city shooting down pesky cowbirds, bagging as many as 26,000 in one weekend.

N. Y. Man Plans Atomic Steel Vest

NEW YORK, (INS) — A New Yorker named Bernard Spooner is working on a project for making a vest out of steel that would resist atomic radiation.

Spooner's basis for this radiation-resistant device are the steel bullet-proof vests he first produced in 1921, according to Steelways, official publication for the American Iron and Steel Institute.

There are currently three models: a police vest, a civilian vest, and a combat field jacket which he has proffered to the armed forces. All are constructed of 39 specially-treated, high-strength steel alloy plates .04 inch thick, interlocked and overlapped to protect the entire torso.

GOOD EYESIGHT AIDED BY BARNEY OLDFIELD

GENEVA, N.Y. (INS) — Thousands of persons who remember Barney Oldfield only as an auto pioneer and great racing driver have better eyesight today because of him.

In trying to produce a better auto tire, he hit on a curve-cutting principle now used throughout the optical industry in manufacturing tools to produce toric lenses, according to Shuron Optical Co., manufacturer of the Oldfield lap truing machine.

These lenses help correct both near and far sightedness and astigmatism, a visual defect causing image distortion.

Viennese Police Watch Girls' Legs In Safety Tests

VIENNA, (INS) — Vienna police have ordered to watch what girls on motor-scooters do with their legs.

The findings so far: the gals throw them around. But that's not dangerous for traffic the cops added.

Reason for the investigation was not idle curiosity but a sincere quest for knowledge in the interest of traffic safety.

The authorities wanted to make sure that a recent permission for girls to ride side-saddle on motor-scooters doesn't cause an increase in accident rate.

Result of the inquiry conducted by several dozens "extremely observant" Vienna cops showed that, although the girls move their legs around a lot more than it was "absolutely necessary," not a single accident was directly caused by the side-saddle fashion was "provocative" and "coquettish."

Police therefore saw no reason to object to an extension of the permission despite heated protests of some Viennese who claim that the side-saddle fashion was "provocative" and "coquettish."

Pacing The Labor Beat

With The Labor Editor

News of local unions and their members will be welcomed by the COURIER. Address all communications to the Labor Editor, The BRISTOL COURIER, Bristol, Penna.

New York Mayor Robert Wagner prepared for a new waterfront strike yesterday as the old International Longshoremen's Association asked U. S. Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell to recommend a "top-notch crime buster" to clean up the union.

The mayor is meeting with 15 law enforcement officials of New York and New Jersey today on plans to keep order if the dockers go on strike. I.L.W. Executive Vice President Patrick J. Connolly, however, said his union's Atlantic Coast district council will not consider a strike of walkout until "the end of this week or the beginning of next week."

The federal "crime buster" was sought by George A. Brenner, union counsel in a meeting with Mitchell.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, meanwhile, said yesterday he will intervene in the tense dock situation, despite "threats of gangsters we are trying to clear out of the waterfront."

The statement was evoked by the recent action of the I.L.A. asking the National Labor Relations Board to prevent the governor from stopping it.

The guaranteed annual-wage drive of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers was effected in Philadelphia yesterday.

Dr. Max Wolff, who will head the committee, said that three grants totaling $10,000 will be awarded to three outstanding community projects. The grants were established by the Necchi Foundation, which was created by Leon Jolson, president of the Necchi Sewing Machine Sales Corp.

workers, members of the independent United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers, staged a sit-in strike at the Permutt Co. plant yesterday. Union spokesmen said the members protested the recent dismissal of eight men, and reported plans to move the company to Lancaster.

French strikes seriously affected that nation's important tourist industry last year. The serious strikes occurred in the height of the travel season, in August. Later recoveries, however, brought the tourist trade near the 1952 level.

Travellers stayed out of France because of strikes in the railroads and communications, while others cut short their visits when the strikes broke out.

A Quick Look: Labor overseas

... In London the Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions yesterday postponed a slowdown of its 3,000,000 members set for Jan. 18. The union leaders acted on the request of Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton, who appointed two courts of inquiry to study a demand for a 15 per cent wage increase. . . . The past year in Germany was a peaceful one, for labor that is. Observers said the general economic development of the country provided little cause for complaints of wages, prices and the cost of living.

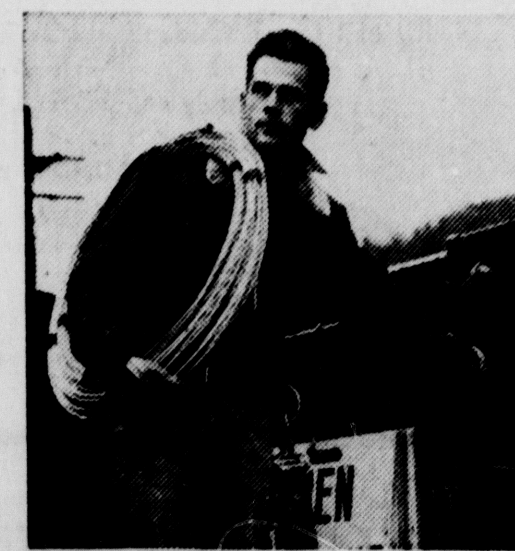

Pennsylvania's growth can be traced in the telephone facilities added during the past eight years. In that time, 1,365,000 telephones have been added . . . by the end of 1954, the total in use will reach 3,176,000! This expansion and the developments that made it possible have cost more than $530 million. Here Philadelphia engineers William Rile and John Bauer review future telephone expansion plans, a program that calls for the expenditure of $80,565,000 more during the next 12 months alone!

Design for Progress

More telephones mean more customers. It is the job of people like June Roehrig, of Greensburg, to make a friend of each new customer. Since 1946, the number of telephone people serving you has increased from 22,340 to 36,300.

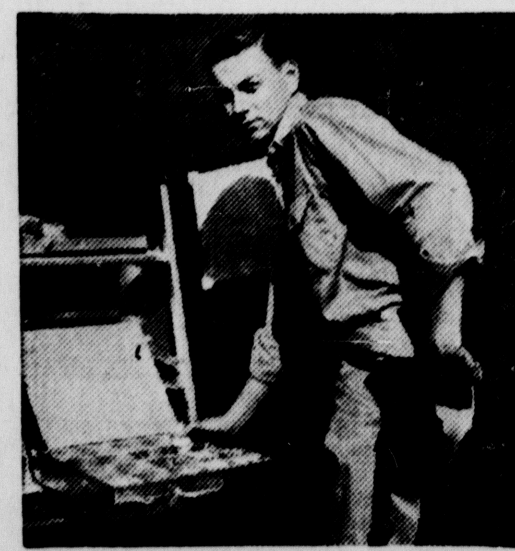

Donnell Godfrey, of Williamsport, is one of the men who have helped install 4,494,000 miles of wire (99% in stormproof cable) since 1946. In this time, 108 buildings have been constructed . . . additions made to 39. This year, 24 buildings will be started and additions made to 23.

Today . . . 13,000,000 calls will be made from Pennsylvania's Bell telephones . . . many of them from new homes, new communities, new industrial plants. Our state is growing as it never has before, and the peak has yet to be reached!

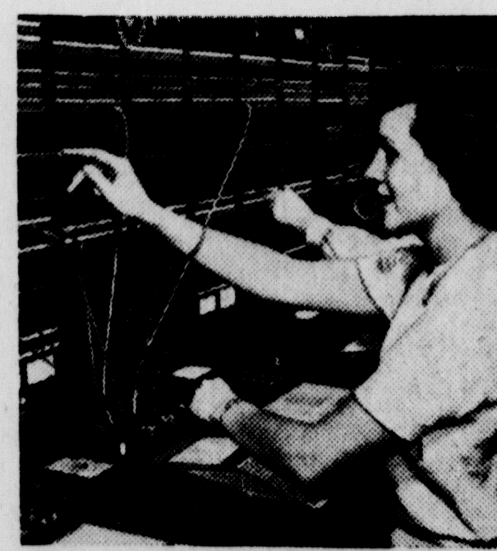

As the year unfolds, new people will be trained, new buildings completed, and new cable laid to keep pace with your telephone requirements. At the same time, new and better ways will be developed to do that job.

For merely keeping pace is not enough. Growth is measured by quantity, progress by quality. And progress—the very best service at the lowest possible cost—is the constant aim of the more than 36,000 men and women behind your telephone.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Well-trained men like Bert Bringe, of Greensburg, are kept busy installing new telephones to meet the continuing demand for service. During the next 12 months, we plan to add nearly 100,000 telephones to the more than three million now in service here in Pennsylvania.

Speeding your calls, helping make your telephone as reliable as it is, are alert, well-trained operators like Lorraine Schweitzer, of Scranton. In 1946, about nine million calls were made during the average day. During 1953, nearly five billion calls were handled—the total grows all the time!

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Fulton Lewis, Jr.

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The administration's apparent willingness to compromise the explosive issue presented by the so-called Bricker amendment stands out as an example of the effectiveness of grassroots public opinion.

Less than a year ago, administration spokesmen were busily trotting up to Capitol Hill to tell legislators the amendment would unduly shackle the government's hands in its dealings with other countries.

Now they are working even more assiduously to reach some formula of semantics and verbiage which will be acceptable to both themselves and the sponsor of the original amendment, Sen. John Bricker of Ohio.

It's all because of the steady torrent of mail which has been piling into Senate offices over a period of months in support of Bricker's plan.

Congressional chieftains such as Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland, of California, have been quietly telling the executive branch that the situation has reached the point where, whether the administration likes it or not, some version of the Bricker amendment probably will be passed.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles already has accomplished one admirably acrobatic tightrope act on the issue and may do another.

In April, 1952, speaking as a private citizen and GOP foreign policy leader, he told an American Bar Association convention in Louisville, Ky., of the grave dangers of so-called "treaty law" to our domestic legal structure.

In 1953, as Secretary of State, he urged rejection of the Bricker amendment on grounds it would prevent his department from dealing properly with other governments. If a compromise is reached, he may turn up in 1954 recommending its passage.

The basic issue involved is putting into our federal constitution some check-rein to prevent international treaties from superseding our own domestic laws, federal or state.

It became an issue with the advent of the United Nations and approval of the U. N. charter. Some say that under certain sections of the charter authorizing Congress to legislate in the entire field of civil, social or economic activities, Washington can legislate on any or all of those broad subjects in complete disregard of any provision of state constitutions or laws.

The charter already has been cited in some court decisions, including one in California invalidating the state's prohibition against mixed marriages on grounds that it was repugnant to the charter's "racial equality" declaration.

The proposed covenant on human rights, now being drafted by the U. N. Commission on human rights, is regarded almost universally as being more potentially dangerous to our domestic laws than anything adopted up to now, this is the commission where Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt served as chairman of the American delegation until she was replaced, fortunately, by the new administration.

Dulles now says this administration has no intention of becoming a party to, or recommending ratification of, any declaration on human rights. He likewise says it will not seek passage of the equally dangerous Genocide convention, also drafted under U. N. aegis.

But Dulles will not always be Secretary of State, nor will Mr. Eisenhower always be president. No one has the faintest idea at this point what their successors might do. And Dulles himself at one time was advocating the Genocide convention.

Most international law experts concede that the administration may have a point, in that it is conceivable that the language of the original Bricker amendment might tie its hands in some treaty dealings. But aside from the left-wingers who for many years have been trying to find some way to circumvent the constitution, almost everybody agrees that some safeguard is needed and that if the administration does not want the Bricker amendment, it is going to have to come up with a reasonable facsimile.

Water Authorities Grow By 10 More

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — Ten new water authorities, all of them small ones, went into operation in Pennsylvania during 1953.

A study by S. Cober Braucher, deputy secretary, Department of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg, and David L. Cowell, research assistant in the Institute of Local Government at Pennsylvania State University, shows that little communities now find it possible to finance a water system through an authority.

Four water authorities purchased privately owned water companies in 1952, the survey showed. A total of 101 water authorities in 1952 served 1,622,821 people and had 359,116 customers.

HEAT BEAT

LONDON, (INS) — Domestic refrigerators which will also heat the household water will be on the British market in 1954, British scientists have now discovered how to utilize the waste heat generated

Long Range View:

If you've been waiting for color television all these many days, well, you still have a wait—of at least five years.

That's the opinion of Charles Richman, owner of Richman's, 315 Mill street, Bristol.

"Color television—for the general public—is still five years away," according to Richman, who attended a private showing for RCA television dealers in Philadelphia on New Year's Day. The dealers saw the Tournament of Roses, beamed from California, in all its many colors.

The public has been expecting color television to hit the stores in large numbers ever since the recent approval of the RCA compatible color television system by the Federal Communications Commission. But, it seems, Hopalong Cassidy in blues and greens is not around the corner, partner.

The Reason Why:

"The largest screen possible to manufacture at this time for color television is only 12 1/2 inches—which was a disappointment to those watching it," Richman reports. It seems technicalities prevent development of a larger color tube at this time. "Right next to the color screen was a 21-inch black and white tube set," Richman said, "and although the reds and greens and all the natural colors were beautiful—we could see much better on the larger screen."

More Reasons:

Another reason the dealer isn't expecting a large demand for the medium in color, and also the reason the sets aren't going to be manufactured even in limited quantities until about the middle of 1955, is that old dollar-sign-devil that pops up every now and then, that old dollar-sign-devil that pops up every now and then. "The sets will sell for about $1,000 each, even though they have a small screen," Richman said. Television shows in color will also be limited, for the production of them runs into the millions.

"Producers will hold off producing color shows until the set is available at a reasonable price, and the screen is larger," Richman remarked.

He added that he will have a floor sample of color television, for public viewing, but not for sale, sometime this year.

So the immediate future for color or teevee doesn't look too rosy—in fact, it looks pretty black and white.

Never Underestimate the Power of a Sub-Deb:

The "Sub-Debs" of Pennsbury High School, Yardley, have gone "national." Not in membership, that is, but in fame. In the Ladies Home Journal of January, 1954, there's an article entitled "Let's Have a Club," which appears on the sub-deb page of the national magazine. At the top of the page there's a picture of several local couples, depicting the New Year's dance the group held in the school gym.

The club combines club and class, meets twice a week during school hours, and discusses things ranging from hair styles to flower arrangement. The purpose of the club: to train themselves for future roles as homemakers and hostesses.

Here 'n' There:

The Bristol City Directory for 1953-54, just out, finds the Smiths getting ahead of the Jones in the borough. There are 64 Smiths; 35 Jones. Leading off the directory are William and Jennie Abate, 257 Cleveland street; ending it is Richard Zwicker, 244 East Circle. The directory, by the way, in addition to the above trivia, contains a wealth of information.

TV Web To Cover Western Europe And British Isles

LONDON, (INS) — Seven west European countries will be linked by television for the first time in a projected "International TV week" next summer, probably in June.

The two-way network will embrace Britain, France, and the Netherlands, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland and Italy.

European TV experts meeting in London agreed to drop original plans for a Christmas exchange of programs, proposed by Radiodiffusion-Télévision Française, involving only five stations, Switzerland and Italy were excluded.

The experts instead voted to wait until the more ambitious project, covering almost the whole of Western Europe, could be put into effect.

Television broadcasts have already been exchanged between Britain and the Continent. In 1952 a French TV program was broadcast in Britain.

Then last June, the British Broadcasting Corporation's "Live" TV report on the Coronation was carried to France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Germany.

So far the micro-wave relay system used to beam the programs, across the English Channel has been a one-way proposition. Engineers are now working on a two-channel project, which would enable a simultaneous exchange of programs, between the BBC and the Continental networks.

The British programs will be routed through the aCassel Casino, in France, where the Continental TV distribution center is located. It is through this center, which serves as an international pool for TV programs, that continental European networks exchange entertainment and news features.

Because of different screens used in various countries the program relay requires the use of converters.

Britain, for instance, uses a 405-line screen, while Holland one with 625.

The screen-line conversion is affected without impairing the quality of TV reception.

Jealousy Spurs Town Into New, Busy Era

PORT HURON, Mich. — (INS) — In the short span of a year Port Huron, Mich., has been transformed from economic inertia to vibrant industrial activity.

The story of this remarkable about-face is a story of civic rivalry, ingenuity and free enterprise.

It began in the years following World War II. While Port Huron languished on the American side of the St. Clair river at the mouth of Lake Huron, Sarnia, Ontario, across the river, grew and prospered.

Sarnia, which had always been the junior of the sister cities, became the site of vast facilities of Imperial Oil, Polymer Synthetic Rubber and Dow Chemical. Its population doubled to 42,000 persons.

Pride Rebelled

Sleepily rolling its eyes toward its neighbor, Port Huron discovered that it was now the smaller of the two cities. National and local pride rebelled, but what could be done?

Four of the town's leading businessmen began whipping up the public incentive. By subscription, a civic committee raised $500,000 to build a 5,500-seat stadium; goaded the voters into approving $2,500,000 for a new city-county building and then raised $1,500,000 to add 150 beds to the public and Catholic hospitals.

Needed New Industry

The four who made the projects possible were insurance company president Edward R. Moore, newspaper publisher F. Granger Weil, banker Frank J. McCabe and department store owner Clare R. Sperry.

They realized Port Huron must have new industry in order to grow. But how to get industry to a town with a reputation for lethargy was a baffling problem.

They took their problem to nearby Detroit where Henry Sullivan, assistant to the vice president of Detroit Edison Co., advised them to hire Rolle Rand, a former newspaperman who had successfully headed industrial developments in Colorado and Wyoming.

Survey of Area

Rand, who at 37 already has a national reputation in his field, accepted the job and established what was called the Industrial Development Corporation of the Port Huron-Marysville area.

Eighty of the city's leading citizens and businessmen were approached to contribute to a fund to finance the operation. A painstaking survey of Area

BUENOS AIRES — (INS) — Tourists leaving Argentina after a stay of not less than five days will in future be able to take with them up to five thousand pesos worth of textile and leather goods, without the necessity of obtaining permits.

In December, 1952, the first known news-sheet in the English language appeared not in England but in Holland.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. — The library of the Pennsylvania State University has acquired a nearly complete file of the London Times for the period 1809 to 1950.

The files, explains Ralph W. McComb, University librarian, were made available by the Boston Public Library, provided Penn State would pay for the packing and shipping of the files, which weigh about eight tons.

Funds were made available through the gifts to the Penn State Foundation.

Six New Industries

As the IDC's first fiscal year ended Rand reported that six new industries had located in Port Huron. He said the six have an initial employment of 910,000 and anticipated employment of 1,760.

Among other prospects considered good are a two million dollar detergent plant, a million dollar metal fabricating plant and another heavy industry which would employ 2,500 workers.

Another accomplishment noted at the end of the first year was the dedication of a 130-acre model industrial site. It is owned by the city in order to keep its price from skyrocketing and has been completely equipped with water, gas and sewage.

The Port Huron Industrial Development Corporation claims to have accomplished more in less time than any similar organization in the country.

Studio Suspends Marilyn Monroe, Off With Di Maggio

HOLLYWOOD—INS — Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio played hide-and-seek with 20th Century-Fox today amid rumors that they are driving to Nevada to be married.

The screen beauty and the former New York Yankees baseball star, a romantic team for months, disappeared from DiMaggio's San Francisco home Monday.

After a fruitless day of trying to locate her, the studio suspended her for failing to report for work in "Pink Tights."

The elopement report was strengthened when it was learned that the actress has rented her apartment and made arrangements to move into a house.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. E. S. Dennis, Pastor Bethel A. M. E. Church

"Know ye not that ye are the Temple of God and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?" (1-Cor-3:16)

Paul's intimation is that one may be a Temple of God and not have the consciousness of the divine in dwelling. What was true of the Corinthians in the days of St. Paul may be true today.

In this Chapter is also found why these converts did not know that they were in dwell by the Holy Ghost, and were, as a consequence, the Temples of God.

They were Spiritual infants. They were babes in Christ. Although several years had past since their conversion, there had been no growth, no development in their spiritual lives. Though the period of infancy had past, they were still living on the milk of God's word.

Therefore, Paul tells them, "I cannot speak unto you as unto spiritual, even as to babes in Christ. I have fed you with milk and not with meat, for hitherto you were not able to bear it, neither yet, now are ye able."

There are so many Christians who are still babes in Christ who have not grown Spiritually since their conversion, weak Christians who do not walk with God.

A carnal life is a worldly and selfish life. It is self-pleasing, self-willing and self-seeking.

Many Christians today by living a life of worldliness, lose their growth in Christ and the joy of their salvation.

Encouraging the Young Child To Drink the Milk He Needs

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

MILK is perhaps the most important single food in a person's whole lifetime. Whether one chooses, at sixty or six, to drink enough milk depends chiefly on whether he enjoyed drinking milk in his early childhood.

At any age, of course, one may consume milk as an ingredient of other foods. But no matter how hard a mother may try to prepare foods containing milk, very few children or adults will get enough milk that is disguised.

While the baby is being fed with the bottle, he may consume ample milk, unless he is filled up with too many other foods. But as soon as the bottle disappears, he may not choose to take nearly enough from a glass or cup. Usually from two to five, the child's appetite for liquid milk is pretty well established for the rest of his life. Many a mother who tries hardest to get him to drink enough milk may, in her efforts, do the very thing that sets his appetite against milk.

Her first troubles may begin when the bottle disappears. The wise mother avoids this problem by occasionally offering the bottle-fed baby milk from a cup or glass warmed to the temperature of the milk he has been accustomed to in the bottle. Even during his early months, she can do this patiently and gently, being careful not to stir up strong resistance in him, and at times when he is very hungry.

And instead of taking the bottle from him suddenly she removes it gradually, with the last bottle feeding at bedtime, perhaps. Then and later she offers him milk at the beginning of each meal and continues this procedure indefinitely until he has established a good appetite at each meal for liquid milk.

Of course, if he wants too much milk, limit the amount. But, usually, he doesn't choose enough or may even refuse to take any. If you coax, cajole, or command him to drink liquid milk, you will almost surely decrease his appetite for it. What should you do then? Whether the child refusing liquid milk or not choosing nearly enough of it is two, four or seven, proceed as follows:

Place before him at the table a few tablespoons of milk in a glass or cup, and nothing else, not even water. Don't ask him or tell him to drink it. Just say he may have other food when he has emptied the cup or glass. If he says he doesn't want the milk, tell him he may leave the table if he likes but can't have any other food till the next meal. Keep your word.

Increase Slowly

If he has consumed the milk at this meal, proceed in like manner during the next five or ten meals, after which you should slightly increase the amount of the milk. But make the increase very small and gradual, and if he begs for more, be stingy. Later, you might wisely place by his cup or glass a small pitcher of milk from which he might like to pour.

Be happy if after a few months he enjoys drinking ample milk. It will be helpful if the older persons at the table also enjoy a glass of milk at each meal.

Front-running Franklin A. C. and second place Kaiser Metal buzzed easily to victory last night in an only mildly interesting Lower Bucks County Athletic Conference doubleheader at Rohm and Haas gym, Bristol.

Kaiser, caught as short-handed as it ever will be, had only eight men on deck for the skirmish, but used them to good advantage. Carl Janetka, active most of the way, led

PENNSBURY, BENSLEM IN FEATURE

They're Off Tonight in LBCL Derby

They'll be off and running tonight in the Lower Bucks County League basketball derby.

Bristol High, the defending champion and near-unanimous pick of LBCL observers to run off and hide from the pack, plays host to Neshaminy in one of the two games on deck. In the other, selected as the feature contest for tomorrow's COURIER roundup, 1953 runnerup Pennsbury visits Bensalem at Cornwells Heights.

Action will continue tomorrow afternoon when unbeaten Delhaas plays host to Morrisville at the Rohm and Haas gym, Bristol. Southampton, the loop's seventh entry, goes after its Alumni tonight, but waits until a Friday date at Neshaminy to crack open its league slate.

Just who is going to take up the job of chasing Bristol this winter is expected to be determined in part when Pennsbury and Bensalem collide. Each has had fair-to-middlin' success in pre-league campaigning. The Falcons whipped George School and Mt. Holly, but Baldovski, a bull of a boy when he's a mind to glitter, the Falcons' scoring punch has been wrapped up in Baldovski, jumpshooting Dave took a two-point setback at Ewing and were soundly thrashed by Central Bucks at Doylestown.

Owls Improve
Bensalem was off shakily with an 80-49 licking at Upper Moreland, but has whipped back strong in straight wins over Hatfield, its Alumni and Lower Moreland. The Owls will be accorded a slight edge on their own small court tonight. The height advantage belongs to Bensalem, sparked by six-foot-five Bob Frantz and six-foot Bob Lake.

Pennsbury will hope to neutralize the backboard battle with Mike Gerard and steady Jim MacMillan. At Bristol, Coach Ben Watson's undefeated Warriors are expected to breeze past Neshaminy, 1-1 for its tuncup slate. The Tribe has walloped Ewing, Trenton Catholic, George School, Bordentown and Florence, and shaved its vaunted Alumni, 47-46, in its last outing a week ago.

The firepower of Harold Loud, Dick Crosby and Phil Attardo, coupled with Bristol's highly mobile zone defense is expected to overwhelm the determined, but unseasoned Redskins. Fred Gerst, who guided Neshaminy to a league basketball title last Spring, will be making his basketball coaching debut in the circuit. He has Stan Covington and Ken Kauffman as bulwarks of a quintet that topped Upper Dublin and lost to Pemberton.

At Southampton, an improving Greyhound team will seek to get its exhibition record in the black before getting down to LBCL business. The team has whipped Council Rock and Upper Dublin and lost to North Wales and Lower Moreland.

Jayvee games will open each program at 7 tonight.

Liberatore Notches
24 As Bristol JHS
Crushes Pennsbury

Bristol Junior High opened its bid for the Lower Bucks J. H. crown yesterday by walloping Pennsbury Junior High, 63-34, on the latter's court.

Lanky Bob Liberatore was practically the whole show of the game as he dropped in nine fielders and six out of 16 foul tries for 24 points.

With the aid of three Liberatore field goals in the second quarter, Coach Chic D'Angelo's team built up a half-time edge of 23-16. But the third quarter was Bristol's best as it rolled up 10 points while holding Pennsbury to a lone field goal.

Squabble Threatens State Uranium Hunt

HARRISBURG (INS) — The search for possible uranium deposits in Pennsylvania today threatens to develop into a bureaucratic and money-wasting hassle at a time when the search is exciting new interest in Pennsylvania's mineral resources.

Two units of the state government threaten to launch separate surveys to cover the entire multi-billion dollar field.

The search for uranium—from which the atom bomb is made—and discovery of scattered deposits in Pennsylvania created new interest in mineral resources, which now provide 700,000 jobs.

Study Directed
A resolution passed by the Senate of the 1953 general assembly directed the Joint State Government Commission to make "a complete study of metallic and non-metallic mineral deposits."

The legislature then cut appropriations to the Internal Affairs Department, which has a bureau of topographic and geologic survey ready to tackle the same problem.

"The study authorized by the Senate resolution is the same thing I have been trying to get for 14 years," declared Secretary William S. Livengood, Jr.

"Just More Money"
He said his department has the necessary technical personnel and facilities that the board would have to duplicate to make the study.

"It's just costing the taxpayers more money," Livengood added. Despite a cut-back in funds, the secretary said he is going ahead with preliminary plans for the survey.

He has scheduled a January conference with Pennsylvania State University and U. S. geological survey representatives to determine extent and possible cost of the vast project.

Will Study Resolution

Rep. Baker Royer (R), Lancaster, chairman, said the commission, with a budget of $300,000, will study the Senate resolution after a reorganization.

Of the known mineral resources, the dominant ones in value are soft coal, hard coal, cement, and crude petroleum.

"At this time," said Livengood, "no one knows what lies beneath the surface of the soil of Pennsylvania, and what is more, we are terribly ignorant about how best to utilize what raw materials we do know about."

"The survey will cost a great deal of money but it will be but a pittance besides the tremendous losses that are in prospect for our citizens in every walk of life if this survey is not made and made promptly."

Phones Difficult To Get In Britain

LONDON, (INS) — Getting a telephone in Britain is a tedious business — unless you are one of the privileged few with a high priority rating or you are a farmer.

The General Post Office, that runs the nationalized telephone service, says there is a back-log of about 400,000 would-be subscribers, 270,000 of these are private householders.

Officials say they cannot predict when these applicants will be getting their telephone. They admit it is "not unusual" for a private subscriber to wait for a year before he gets his telephone installed and connected.

Farmers, because the important role they play in feeding the nation, get favored treatment. An average of 11,000 farm telephones are being hooked-up each year.

Despite this inability to meet the demand for telephones, officially attributed to the lasting effects of wartime shortages, Britain is now reaching the 6,000,000 telephone mark.

Beekeepers Map 2-Day Sessions At Farm Meeting

HARRISBURG — Miles Horst, State Secretary of Agriculture, and Dr. E. C. Martin, agriculturist at Michigan State College, East Lansing, Mich., are among speakers at the annual Pennsylvania Farm Show meeting of the Pennsylvania Beekeepers' Association.

A two-day session is planned, according to the official Farm Show program of meetings to be held by more than 30 statewide farm organizations. Prof. Martin is to judge apiary exhibits at the show.

Secretary Horst will extend greetings at the opening session, Tuesday morning, Jan. 12, and Prof. Martin speaks on factors of a honey crop at the same session. On Wednesday afternoon he is to give pointers on judging apiary products.

The beekeepers will hold their annual banquet Tuesday evening of Farm Show week. Speakers at other sessions include H. B. Kirk,

State Department of Agriculture; A. R. Dean, Pittsburgh; Jesse Posey, Muddy Creek Forks; Paul Cummins, Conshohocken; Edwin J. Anderson, agriculturist, and W. W. Clarke, Jr., extension apiarist, Pennsylvania State University.

Paul S. Ziegler, Bethel, is president of the beekeepers' association.

'54 FORD the "worth more" car declares a dividend

Here Tomorrow!

STYLE DIVIDEND

3 distinctive lines — 14 brilliant body styles

You just ought to try the '54 Ford... the car that brings a whole new set of value features to the low-price field. You'll find that each new feature is an extra dividend in driving enjoyment. And each new dividend establishes Ford, even more in '54, as the "Worth More" car.

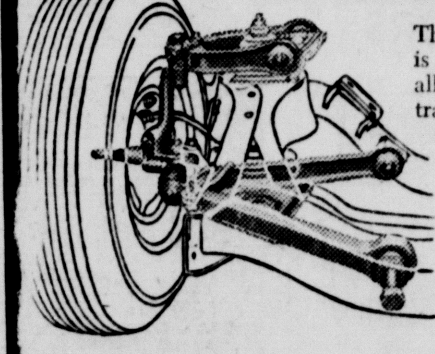

You get a special dividend in styling, for example, with Ford's distinctive new appearance... smooth, clean lines. You get sparkling new interiors, too, that are a dividend in themselves. New custom-selected upholstery and trim are color-harmonized with your choice of glamorous new body colors. And Ford's new Astra-Dial Control Panel is not only the most beautiful you've ever seen... it's designed for safety, too, with the speedometer located high on the control panel, where it's more nearly in your line of sight.

And each of the new Fords gives you special dividends in ride and performance... with new Ball-Joint Front Suspension, the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years... with your choice of Ford's new low-friction Y-block V-8 or I-block Six, the most modern engines in any car today! And, as an additional dividend, Ford makes available all the power assists you might expect to find only in the costliest cars.

With 28 brilliant new models to choose from, you'll find the exact car to suit your tastes and requirements. Come in and see the '54 Ford. Test Drive it. Once you try it, you'll want to drive it home.

RIDE DIVIDEND

New Ball-Joint Front Suspension

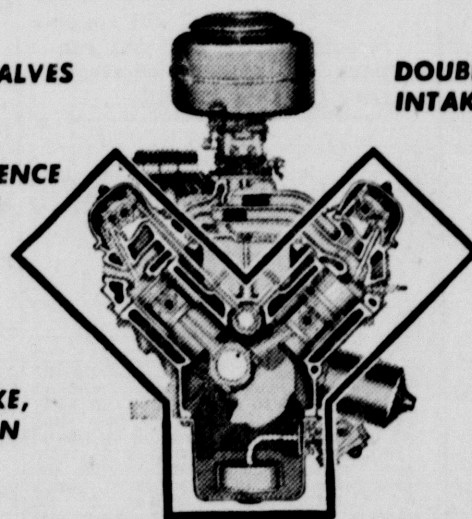

This revolutionary new suspension is exclusive to Ford in its field. It allows greater up and down wheel travel for a smoother ride. And it helps keep wheels in true alignment for consistently easy handling. Movement of the wheels is on ball joints, whether in up and down motion as wheels travel over rough spots, or in steering motion as wheels turn right or left. Lubrication points are cut from sixteen to four.

The greatest engine advances since the original FORD V-8

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO Ford introduced to the low-price field a fine-quality precision-engineered V-8 engine. This basic design — soon to become famous throughout the world — quickly established a new standard of performance for low-priced cars. And now, with its 22 years' experience in building over 13,000,000 V-8's, it is only logical that Ford is first in its field to introduce a brand new type of V-8 — the Y-block V-8... together with the most modern Six in the industry — the new and advanced I-block Six.

Both new 1954 Ford engines have overhead valves for most efficient high-compression operation on today's fuels. Valves are free-breathing to give you the most GO... free-turning to seat tightly and maintain high compression. Both engines have a deep-cast block with skirt that extends well below the crankshaft for greater strength and rigidity... smoother, quieter performance and extra-long engine life. Their modern short-stroke, low-friction design cuts friction losses... gives you more usable horsepower, more miles per gallon of gasoline. And new high-turbulence combustion chambers assure a more thorough mixing of fuel and air for faster, more efficient firing of fuel.

Plan to Test Drive a '54 Ford. You'll find these new Ford power plants stand out as the greatest engine advances since the original Ford V-8.

DIVIDEND IN DRIVING EASE

Master-Guide Power Steering
It does up to 75% of your steering work for you, when you need it... makes "tight spot" parking a pleasure. Yet it leaves you with the normal feel of steering on the straightaway.

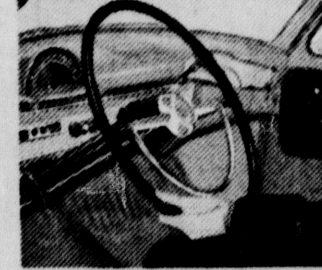

Swift Sure Power Brakes
Power does up to one-third of the work of stopping your car for you! You are far less fatigued... much more relaxed in the stop and go driving of today's congested traffic.

Power-Lift Windows
Smooth, silent electric power opens or closes windows at the touch of a button. There's a master control on left front door beside driver plus an individual control under each power window.

4-Way Power Seat
You push one of two controls and the front seat goes up or down... push the other and it goes front or back. It's a real convenience when different-sized people have to drive the same car frequently.

Fordomatic Drive
Gives you the most versatile automatic shifting ever. You get the smoothness of a fluid torque converter, the "go" of an automatic intermediate gear. Ford also offers gas-saving Overdrive.

Exercise To Improve Posture

LIKE ALL MOVIE STARS, lovely Joyce MacKenzie is careful to maintain good posture when sitting, standing or walking.

By HELEN FOLLETT

THE most beautiful frock ever stitched together will look like a basement bargain if it is worn by a girl with slouched shoulders, tummy out, back rounded and head thrust forward. If some girls could see themselves as others see them, they would be surprised, if not horrified.

Stand tall, hoist up your chest! Be snappy! Look sassy!

Copy the Stars

Observe how the stars of stage and screen stand, sit and walk. Do likewise. When walking on the street, pull yourself to attention, as if you were a soldier passing a reviewing stand.

We must be continually conscious of the fact that posture is a matter of the mind even before that of the body. Before you can do a thing, you must desire to do it. Cultivate pride of appearance. To look lovely isn't just a matter of flaunting a smart hairdo and putting on make-up. Figure loveliness is as important as facial beauty.

Try This Test

If you suspect your posture is not all that it should be, try this test.

Stand straight and tall, then stretch as if you were pulling yourself apart at the waistline. See how long you can stand that way. If your muscles are not flexible as they should be, this test may be a bit painful because you are making lazy muscles work as they haven't worked before.

Keep a daily record, stating how many minutes you can hold this pose. If each day you suffer less fatigue and can stand erect longer, you can know that you are improving conditions.

If good posture is habitual fifty per cent of the time, you are doing well. Gradually it will be natural for you to have a vibrant stance, move with lightness and grace.

Story Of Bourbon To Be Published From Old Records

NEW YORK, (INS) — Elbow benders and tetotalers alike will soon be able to talk authoritatively about bourbon when a history of the blue grass brew is published.

The story of bourbon, compiled from the records of the Kentucky Historical Society and the writings of Mark Twain and Irvin S. Cobb, is largely the story of a Scotch doctor who "went West" after he lost his fortune speculating on British shipping.

Col. James Crow, doctor-turned-chemist, came to America to recoup his fortune and set out for the frontier with a wagon-load of instruments and hope. When he reached Kentucky, he found the settlers in good health but bad spirits. Their favorite brew, long prepared with-out definite formula or scientific measurement, was often as not "cursed by a change in the moon."

It was Col. Crow, with his hydro-meters, saccharimeters and other scientific apparatus, who transformed the local hobby into a state-wide industry. A decade after he devised the "sour mash" formula, the beverage was selling in the markets of Boston, New York and Washington.

Crow suffered his share of setbacks. In 1853, a hailstorm ruined the corn crop. And in 1854, a drought compounded the disaster. But within a few years, Sen. Henry Clay was offering his guests Crow's "wonderful elixir" by the barrel, and his opinion — at least on this topic — was shared by his Congressional antagonist, Daniel Webster, who called it "the finest whisky in the world."

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

The More Escorts The Merrier Time

The French have a sure cure for wallflowers. A girl is entitled, in their opinion, to have a good time when she goes to a dance or a big ball. They insure a girl's whirl by letting each girl who's invited bring three or four dancing partners with her. Hostesses trust the discretion of the girls they invite, so the "stag line" is highly presentable. The boys, since this system has been in existence for years and years, know what is expected of them. They escort their girl, they dance with her (they can mingle all they please when they're not "on duty"), they see to it that she has a scrumptious evening. And each of them is having to pull only a quarter of the load.

All of which makes me smile at the explosion I'm holding in my third hand. It's a letter from a girl who utters a resounding "Can you imagine a girl going to a dance with two boys?"

I can not only imagine it—I've done it. And I know dozens of other girls who have done it too.

I can imagine two boys putting their heads together and deciding they want to go to the dance, but they're tired. Neither wants to have to dance the whole evening with a girl. So they'll share one and do only 50 percent of the treading on her toes.

I can imagine two boys who discover they want to take the same girl to the dance. It's a matter of life and death with both of them. If either wins the prize it will be the end of their beautiful friendship. So I can imagine that they compromise by teaming up.

I can imagine two or four boys, only one of whom has a best girl, acting as honor guard for her and seeing that she has a wonderful time at the party.

I've been the girl in all such cases—so I know it can be done. And the girl's role is a happy one. And the rules are few.

She must devote equal time and attention to her escorts. She mustn't play one against the other except when obviously teasing. She mustn't criticize one to the other or make cracks behind the absent one's back.

Lollygagging it out, of course, even if one of the boys happens to be her best beau. No holding hands with him while the other boy looks on. No ducking out for intimate little sessions while the other boy has to fend for himself. No parking to watch the moon come over the mountain, on the way home—not when there's an audience of even one.

A gal must act equally delighted to be with her manly beauties. She must flirt in equal doses with both of them—just to make it fun.

And give them no cause to complain to each other after the ball is over.

Your Birthday by STELLA

TUESDAY, JANUARY 5 — Born today, you are an exceptionally active individual and just naturally fall into the leadership of whatever project you are interested in at the time. You are something of a harsh task-master when it comes to directing others. But you never expect more from them than you, yourself, are willing to put in. The ultimate result is a lot of important work done in a hurry. Those who follow along with you are likely to ride in on your success train!

If early in life, you find yourself stuck in a routine job, cut loose at once. Working for someone else is an anathema and not until you get out on your own will you make the best use of the exceptional talents which the stars have given to you. You are constructive in your thinking as well as in your actions. You have a passion for getting at the truth and then for crusading for something which you believe will better the lot of the entire world. It may take time to put your idea over. But once it gets across, your fame is established and it should long outlive you.

Your personal nature is strong and you will be most content if you wed early in life. You will want a large family and will find great happiness in seeing that all get their heart's desire. You will make any kind of personal sacrifice for those you love. Your marriage should be an exceptionally happy one. To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, January 6

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—Learn to consider obstacles just something to climb over—not anything to stop your progress, for very long.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—If you have important "gripes" to get off your mind, be sure you're telling them to the right person!

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—Finding fault will only make enemies if carried too far. Find something to praise, if you can. It's a better policy.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—You can't afford to be shabby on the job. Be sure that you get yourself some new clothes. Look your best.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—Imagination, initiative and practical application to a job will get you where you want to go today.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—If a venture you have started looks good, follow it through no matter what happens to distract your attention.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—You will need plenty of self-confidence to complete the task that is set before you just now.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Come to the defense of a friend who may need your help. A word from you may be the one to turn the tide.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Someone who has been far away may return to your circle for a visit or a long stay. Make him welcome.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Be dignified in all you undertake today. Being a smart Aleck may work for a while, but not for always!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—Be cautious in making future plans. Be highly practical. The present is definite; the future uncertain.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Today, patience will serve you better than going at a job too hastily. Conquer detail work.

Listen, Children, To Happy Insects Eating At Grain

MANHATTAN, Kan., (INS) — Kansas State College scientists have developed techniques whereby they can listen to hidden insects chewing inside kernels of wheat and other grain.

The work has practical application too, for this will make possible rapid evaluation of effectiveness of fumigants, for instance, where normally it might be several weeks before the insects would emerge. A suitable sound detection device for this purpose now is under construction.

Investigators have been able to detect internal insects in all except the egg and extremely early larval stage.

The insects, in the larval and pupal stages, appear to have two distinct types of sound. One is a low frequency scraping noise, believed made by the movement of larva and pupa within the kernels; the other is a high frequency sound, believed caused by chewing.

Additional studies now are in progress to refine techniques and better evaluate findings. Eventually, it is hoped that it may be possible to determine numbers of infested kernels, species of insect and its relative stage of development, and the influence of such things as temperature and humidity upon sound patterns produced.

And give them no cause to complain to each other after the ball is over.

Kansas Centennial To Draw President

LAWRENCE, Kan., (INS) — President Eisenhower's visit to his home state will be the highlight of the Kansas Territorial Centennial celebration this year.

Prof. Robert Taft of Lawrence, chairman of the centennial committee, announced that Charles H. Dick of Hutchinson has been appointed executive assistant for the committee.

U.S. Senator Frank Carlson reported the postoffice probably will issue a territorial commemorative stamp.

J. N. Landreth of Topeka, general manager of the Santa Fe Railroad, said his company will provide a coach to display historic Kansas documents, maps and books and relics. The coach will tour the state.

Rep. King Off To Washington; Sees River Aid

ready familiar with the arguments against the project as well as for it, their decision will probably be based upon the broad general issue as to the value of the project to all of the surrounding territory.
"I think the Army engineers were correct in saying it was a justifiable project, which would contribute greatly to the future development of a big territory."

Water Issue Discussed
Was Rep. King concerned about the possible effect of channel deepening on the underground waters of Bucks County and parts of New Jersey?

"I listened to the hearing on the matter," King answered. "There is much expert testimony to the effect that deepening will in no way adversely affect water supplies."

Rep. King was asked if he thought President Eisenhower's proposal to channel defense contracts to regions affected by unemployment had any immediate significance for Lower Bucks County.

No Action Needed Yet

"I don't think unemployment in this territory is yet sufficient to warrant such action," he said.

"I am no expert on such a matter," he continued, "but I haven't developed any fear on my part of a bad recession."

"Some decrease in our over-all industrial output is probably due and will not hurt our standard of living if lower prices come as they logically will with such reduction in output."

The Congressman added a footnote to the effect that a principal cause of decrease in production is a market fully stocked and that such a market tends to a lowering of prices.

Praises Builders

Rep. King had a word of praise for housing developers in Lower Bucks County. Pointing out that it was the general policy of the Administration to take government out of a business than can be performed more efficiently by private enterprise, he said:

"We certainly have here in our immediate area, the best argument against federal housing in that we have seen private enterprise step up and furnish good housing as rapidly as needed and at a cost to the buyer which could not be met by government."

Rep. King agreed that action on the Taft-Hartley Act would be of interest in this industrialized area but said he had no fixed opinion about the projected revisions of the act. Pointing out that the King Farms Company was "100 per cent unionized," he declared:

No Bearing on Farm

"It wouldn't affect us. In our negotiations with the union we've never in any way used the Taft-Hartley law and feel that whatever changes might be made would have no bearing on our contract."

What's more, the representative said, he had heard very little about Taft-Hartley from his constituents.

Rep. King is a member of the House Agricultural Committee. A stern opponent of rigid high price supports, he approves the program of Ezra Benson in handling the Department of Agriculture.

Approval for Benson

"Critics from the high price support areas," he told a recent questioner, "have tried to hoodwink (Benson) out of office, but I feel he has retained the respect of most people for his courageous move in reorganizing the Department and his stand against the maintenance of the high, rigid, support prices which have loaded the federal government with such large surpluses of food and fibre."

King believes the farm program and the foreign economic aid program will be two of the most controversial issues in the coming session.

On the latter issue he said:

"I sense in talks to people and in reading my mail a greatly increased opposition to sending four billions of our dollars to some foreign countries to build up their economies when it seems apparent that in so doing we do not get their co-operation and friendship."

Valley Expansion Is Meeting Topic

The significance to businessmen of industrial development of the upper Delaware Valley area will be the topic of a panel discussion at a meeting of the Society for Advancement of Management at the Hotel Hildebrecht, Trenton, next Tuesday evening.

Louis G. Bilancio is chairman of the program committee. Members of the panel are: Freeholder Edward A. Thorne, director of the Mercer County Industrial Commission; G. Alfred Hess, power representative of Public Service, and Bucks County Industrial Commissioner John Welsh.

The panel discussion will follow dinner. Each speaker will give a 15-minute presentation and there will be a half-hour question and answer period.

When Does the Next Boat Leave?

THE ANSWER TO THAT, sad to say, is that it doesn't. Excursion days are now over in this part of the Delaware, but in 1908 the "Burlington" still provided many happy hours for its passengers. The picture was taken July 4th of that year, and it looks as if the entire population is crowded onto the boat.

It's Men, 5 to 1, Folks, In Smashing Fenders

"Women have fewer accidents than men driving automobiles," says Bristol Police Chief Linford J.
Jones.

Records show the odds are five to one in favor of the women, Jones said.

Chief Jones is compiling automobile accident statistics for the National Safety Council. The figures show an increase of 45 motor accidents here in 1953 over 1952. This can be accounted for by the greatly increased traffic, he said.

Last year there were 281 automobile accidents in Bristol. Of the 18 pedestrians hit by cars, 10 were killed—Mrs. Charles Williamson—and 17 were injured.

There were 243 collisions between automobiles, four automobiles collided with bicycles, 15 automobiles collided with fixed objects and one overturned on road.

Three of the 18 pedestrians struck by automobiles were severely injured, including the one fatality, and 15 were slightly injured. One automobile hit two children at the same time.

There were 236 accidents where property only was damaged and 13 accidents in which 22 persons were injured, six severely and 16 slightly. Four of the bicycle riders were slightly injured.

Of the 15 accidents with fixed objects, one was non-fatal. Property only was damaged in the 14 others. Three persons in one car were slightly injured in collision with fixed objects, while two were slightly hurt in the car which overturned.

Of the 27 persons injured, except the bicycle riders and pedestrians, 18 were male and nine were female.
Of the 18 pedestrians hit by cars, 10 were male and eight female. Of the four bicycle riders, three were male and one female.

Post Office Thief Sentenced For Shooting Clerk

PHILADELPHIA — Carroll Eugene Crox, 27-year-old post office robber, was sentenced to federal prison yesterday for shooting a Columbia, Pa., post office clerk in an attempt to cash one of 49 money orders he had stolen from Trenton area post offices.

The shooting occurred Aug. 24.
The money order blanks had been stolen from the Yardville, N. J., post office.

Assaults Bandit

Federal Judge J. Cullen Ganey, in sentencing Crox, told the bandit:
"You are a hopeless case, with a breaking and entering eye. You are lucky you are not up for murder."

The victim of Crox's wrath, William W. Sample, 52, recovered from his injuries after being wounded by Crox in a struggle for pistol.

Confessed Theft

Crox confessed the theft of nearly $10,000 worth of U. S. bonds and stamps from three Trenton area post offices last summer when he was arraigned before Judge Ganey on Dec. 10.

The bandit was attempting to cash one of the notes at the Columbia post office when Sample, becoming suspicious, checked its number against a stolen list. Sample then tried to arrest Crox at gun point, a struggle followed and the clerk was shot with his own gun.

Crox had previously served time in Iowa for breaking and entering into post offices. He was paroled in 1951 after being sentenced to a six and one half year term.

Borough Council Is Reorganized In Hulmeville

Approve Contract With Reetz On Garbage Disposal

Final approval was given last night by the Hulmeville borough council to the landfill contract with Ferdinand Reetz, Jr., for rubbish and garbage disposal. The contract, at $1500 a year, dates back to Jan. 1.

Action on the garbage contract was only one highlight in a reorganization meeting, which saw a new president of the council elected, one new councilman sworn in and three renew the oath of office.

The new president is Orville Morris, who succeeds George Bilger. Bilger, who has filled that post for four years, declined re-election.

Burgess Speaks

Renewing their oath in the council were Bilger, Morris and Edward B. Vansant. The new councilman seated was Robert Hershey, who succeeds Fred Hunning. Oaths were administered by Burgess Leon R.
Comly, after Comly had renewed his oath as burgess, with Justice of the Peace Richard A. Hopkins officiating. The secretary and treasurer were reappointed.

Addressing the councilmen briefly, Comly commended them for the manner in which they had performed their duties.

"However," he added, "I see trying times ahead. Street conditions in the borough are bad."

Under the two year garbage contract, Reetz agreed to collections every Thursday. The project is to be subject to specifications of Bucks County Planning Commission.

Treasurer's Report

The borough treasurer, Miss Grace H. Illick showed a balance of $4,228 in the general fund, $4-048 in the sinking fund and $754 in the highway aid account.

Drawing up the budget for 1954, as well as setting a tax rate, was held over until a special meeting at the William Penn Fire Co. station Jan. 18.

The question of a mosquito control project arose for the second time. The council decided not to participate.

Hershey Appointed

The new president appointed the newest councilman, Hershey, as representative to the controllers meetings of the Bucks County Boroughs' Association.

Councilman Vansant was named Hulmeville's representative to the meeting arranged by Bucks County Planning Commission in Langhorne Jan. 12.

Councilman Willard Bartoe told of discussions at a meeting of police chiefs and Kiwanians recently about the proposed radio set-up for Lower Bucks County. Bartoe had said at that session that Hulmeville borough's main concern was lack of funds to participate in such projects.

7 Out of Eight Couples Stay Married in County

DOYLESTOWN—For every eight marriage licenses issued in Bucks County in 1953 there was one divorce granted.

According to Mary S. Yardley, of Lower Makefield township, clerk of Orphans Court of Bucks County, there were 1418 marriage licenses granted in 1953, an increase of 86 over 1952.

The records in the Prothonotary's office show that 180 masters were appointed in divorce cases, which means that approximately that many divorces were granted during the 12 months, according to Deputy Prothonotary Ira C. Shaw.

The records for 1953 show that court approved 105 adoptions, which are a matter of record in the Orphans' Court office.

During 1953, the marriage license bureau had an increased business over 1952 in all months but October, November and December. By months the number of marriage licenses issued in 1953 was as follows: January, 98; February, 83; March, 91; April, 125; May,
147; June, 190; July, 131; August,
139; September, 135; October, 98;
November, 94; December, 87.

The biggest marriage license business ever transacted in Bucks County was in 1939, when 3,001 licenses were granted in 12 months.
That was in the era before blood tests became necessary. The second biggest year on record was in 1934 when 2558 licenses were granted.

Since the blood test regulation, as well as the three-day wait, became a law in Pennsylvania, the number of licenses granted average about the same from year to year, with an indication that business will pick up, however, as the county continues to increase in population.

World Traveler Will Be Speaker At Opening of Fallsington Series

"How to Make Peace in an Atomic World" will be the title of the lecture to be given by Charles A.
Wells at 8 p. m. Thursday at Fallsington.

This will be the first in the 1954

sored by the Falls Friends Meet-

"Units for One World" program.

Wells, author, editor, illustrator and popular lecturer, has ranged far and wide as a feature writer and artist for newspapers and reliwidely circulated newsletters, Mr.

Wells has kept in close touch with significant events and trends in the news. He has traveled on repeated trips to Europe, Asia and Latin America. He has also traveled

Ex-Bristol Woman Sparks Life With Interest in Trade

By Shirley A. Beckman

A former Bristol woman is featured in a recent issue of the magazine,
"World Trade".

In a series titled "Women in World Trade," by Lorena J. Hitch, Mrs. Honor Barrett Wilson and her job as commercial agent, foreign trade, U. S. Department of Commerce in Jacksonville, Fla., are discussed.

The article describes her job this way:

"Do you live in Florida? Would you like to export some fine cattle for breeding purposes? Are you going to visit Pakistan and want to know what you can take in your baggage? Or have you finally gotten around to sending that gift to some English people who were nice to you during World War II, but you are not certain of some of the necessary details?"

Will Answer Questions

"Then call Honor Wilson at the Department of Commerce, and your questions will be answered with just enough detail to clear the way for you and with so much graciousness and charm that you are glad the problem arose. And now you know where to go the next time you are in trouble."

Born in Bristol, Mrs. Wilson is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Barrett, well-known residents of the borough. She attended St. Mark's School in Philadelphia.

The article continues: . . . After graduating from high school and taking business courses at Temple University, she started job seeking.
And in her first position, which was with the Luckenbach Shipping Company, she developed a taste for world trade which, through the years, has grown to be so much a part of her that her friends say it ranks second only to her immediate family.

"Promoting Commerce"

"But she was not with the steamship company long when Civil Service offered a chance to work directly for the furtherance of world trade. She grasped the opportunity and was soon settled in the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, "fostering and promoting the commerce of the United States."

"Three years of this work in Philadelphia and she was transferred in 1934 to the Jacksonville office of that agency, where she now holds the position of Commercial Agent for Foreign Trade, carries a large share of the responsibility for the foreign trade of that area, for the people—the business men in particular, engaged in world trade, have come to lean heavily upon her help in solving their problems."

Retired In 1928

"But other interests did fill this devoted foreign trader's life for a while. In 1928 she retired from business life to marry George J. Wilson, of Philadelphia, now deceased.
There are two children, Virginia and Gerry."

"But Honor Wilson finds time for much work outside her regular job. She has been Secretary of the Foreign Trade Council of Jacksonville ever since its organization.
She is active in church and civic affairs and in the League of Women Voters. She is in reality, 'the busy person who can always find time to do one more job.'"

"She keeps in touch with the Federal Government's export licensing policies and interprets these policies (no mean job in itself) to the traders . . . Importers also, must be kept up to date on the best source of goods needed in the United States."

"Many people speaking little or no English and almost at their wit's end, find their way, from time to time, into the Department of Commerce. Mrs. Wilson foreign language, but by that sixth sense possessed by few people, she never fails to put these people at their ease and to learn what kind of help and guidance they need."

Kreuger Will Act As Moderator At Flood Discussion

Col. Walter Kreuger, Jr., of the Army Engineers Corps, will be moderator of a discussion of flood problems in the Yardley area at a special meeting in the home of J. R. Stewart, Cold Spring and Riverview avenues, Yardley, this evening.

The meeting, which is to start at 7:30 o'clock, is preparatory to a flood-control hearing set for 10:30 a. m., Monday, in the Yardley Community Center.

Stewart, chairman of a joint Yardley Lions Club and Riverview Civic Association committee which seeks a flood control project, said his group wanted
"enough evidence for presentation at a public hearing to justify a flood-control project. We urge these residents to return the questionnaires sent out recently and to attend tonight's meeting."

Many protests have been registered in the past few years about flood conditions on Yardley area properties.
